

Brompton Asset Management Complaints Handling Procedure

Brompton Asset Management LLP (Brompton) is authorised and regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA)ⁱ with the Firm Reference Number 501651.

FCA rules dictate how Brompton handles complaints from clients and potential clients. The material below covers how to make a complaint, how Brompton handles complaints and the steps complainants may take if dissatisfied with Brompton's response.

Please note Brompton may not be the most appropriate recipient of complaints in all circumstances. Direct investors in Brompton-managed funds should address complaints initially to the fund's authorised corporate director in the case of an open-ended investment company (OEIC) or authorised unit trust manager in the case of a unit trust. For Brompton funds, this will either be Way Fund Managersⁱⁱ or Maitland Institutional Servicesⁱⁱⁱ. Similarly, investors in model portfolio services managed by Brompton should direct complaints to their IFAs. Investors wishing to complain about New Star Investment Trust should direct complaints to Maitland, which is the company secretary and administrator.

The FCA permits firms to refer a complaint between one another if they believe another firm should be involved in that complaint or if they believe another firm should be the sole respondent to that complaint. Way Fund Managers, Maitland or an IFA may, therefore, refer complaints to Brompton where appropriate and, similarly, Brompton may refer complaints it receives to other firms if they are better placed to respond.

How to complain

Clients or potential clients dissatisfied with Brompton's service or lack of service should, initially, try to resolve the matter with their main contacts at Brompton. Alternatively, they should send an email to Brompton's general email address, info@bromptonam.com, or phone Brompton's switchboard number, 020 7045 0600.

If complainants are dissatisfied with the response from their main Brompton contacts or Brompton has not provided them with a response by the close of the third business day following receipt of a complaint, all details relating to that complaint will be passed to Brompton's compliance department, whose email address is compliance@bromptonam.com. The compliance department is then charged with investigating such complaints competently, diligently and impartially.

How Brompton will handle complaints

Brompton will promptly send a written acknowledgement of a complaint, usually via an email, and may request additional information. The complainant will then be kept informed of the progress of the investigation into the complaint. Please note that, depending on the nature of the complaint, we may suspend trading in the portfolio or portfolios involved while the complaint is investigated. Clients will be notified if this is required.

Within eight weeks of receiving a complaint, Brompton will send either a final response to the complaint or a written response explaining the reasons for any delay in providing a final response and indicating the expected date of providing a final response.

Brompton's final response will summarise the relevant facts, findings and conclusions and state whether the complaint has been upheld. Where appropriate, Brompton will offer redress or remedial action and enclose details of how a complainant can contact the Financial Ombudsman Service (FOS)^{iv}.

Steps a complainant may take if dissatisfied with Brompton's response

Complainants dissatisfied with Brompton's final response, or if Brompton fails to resolve the relevant complaint within eight weeks of the firm's receipt of the complaint, may^v have the right to refer complaints to the FOS. This must, however, be done within six months of the date of Brompton's final response. If complainants do not refer complaints within this time limit, the FOS will not have Brompton's permission to consider such complaints and thus will only be able to do so in limited circumstances. Complainants may also have the right to take civil action.
