Fund manager's commentary

Global equities fell 5.19% as Greece failed to renegotiate bailout terms in time to prevent a default on a payment due to the International Monetary Fund. Greek government bonds fell sharply and the Athens stockmarket closed. The Bank of Greece imposed capital controls to protect the country's banking system. Europe ex-UK equities underperformed modestly, falling 5.69% in sterling, pushed lower by the euro's 1.39% fall against sterling. The FP Brompton Global Conservative Fund's significant equity investments in Europe excluding the UK were maintained because regional markets are supported by quantitative easing, lower oil prices and a weaker euro despite the risks of Grexit. Japanese equities were relatively resilient, falling only 3.98% in sterling, but the GLG Japan CoreAlpha holding underperformed, falling 5.51%. A high commodity exposure weighed on UK equities, which fell 6.43%. All the portfolio's UK equity holdings fell less because of their biases in favour of small and midcap stocks. During June, the holdings in GLG UK Undervalued Assets and PFS Chelverton UK Equity Income were increased. Bonds fell as US inflation and employment data strengthened. UK gilts and sterling corporate bonds declined 1.73% and 2.78% respectively. Templeton Global Bond and the iShares Global Inflation Linked Bond exchange-traded fund fell 4.16% and 3.34% respectively, driven lower by the dollar's 2.97% fall against sterling. The UK property sector bucked the negative trend, however, with Henderson UK Property and Aberdeen Property gaining 0.83% and 0.36% respectively. The FP Brompton Global Conservative Fund fell 2.21%† in June against a fall of 2.57% for the sector.

It is expected that cash, cash equivalents and fixed income investments will make up a significant part of the Fund's assets, in order to maintain its conservative risk profile. However, investments will not be confined to any particular sector.

The Fund may also hold, on a temporary basis, all or part of its assets in cash or other ancillary liquid assets. The Fund may utilise derivatives for the purposes of efficient portfolio management.
