Fund manager's commentary

Global equities fell sharply in early October as the end of US quantitative easing coincided with weak global inflation numbers and poor eurozone economic data. The surprise announcement of a major increase in monetary stimulus from the Bank of Japan reassured investors, however, that central bank policy overall remained supportive for risky assets. Global equities recovered sharply and posted a 2.07% gain in sterling for the month. US equities outperformed and rose 3.81% in sterling. The Japanese equity market rose 4.40% in local currency terms on the last day of October and the yen fell. The FP Brompton Global Growth Fund's investment in the dollar-hedged GLG Japan CoreAlpha fund benefited from local market gains and the 1.33% appreciation of the dollar against sterling but this will only be reflected in November's performance. Dollar strength proved a headwind for the Growth Fund's commodity investments. The 2.01% gold price fall triggered a 10.17% fall in Blackrock Gold & General. The Blackrock World Mining investment trust was, however, worst affected, falling 18.65% in response to weaker commodity prices and the write-off of its investment in a Sierra Leonean iron ore mine. Increased supply left the oil price down 9.69% in sterling. Recovery in post-civil war Libyan production and increasing US shale oil volumes have come at a time when global economic growth is slowing. The drop in energy costs should, however, prove a powerful global economic stimulus. The FP Brompton Global Growth Fund fell 1.88% in October while the sector eased by 0.11%.
